

Name: Atharva Muley
Campus Id: GJ20497

AOS Project 1

I have used time functionality to calculate the time required to execute N clients. Bash script file was used to spawn multiple threads at a time. This graph shows time taken per transaction as the number of clients are increased from 1 to 100. From graph it is evident that the server scales linearly. This is a good indication that the server is executing requests concurrently and scaling as and when needed.